Friars to Meet Cardinals In Final Pigskin Contest

Move Southward In Effort To Capture Initial Vic- tory from C. U.

LINEUPS AT WASHINGTON

Catholic U.	Providence
Donovan	Sullivan
Conlen	Avedisian
Cherello	Pariseau
Shulman	Sarris
Shroeder	Borzilaskas
Ksycewski	Marone
Carrig	Potera
Sachon	Petine
Moutenot	Haponik
Brostek	Yockers
Norris	Stonkus

Having traveled along a road that has had more disappointments than successes, the Fighting Friars change their course and move Southward today to invade the stronghold of the Flying Cardinals of Catholic University, in Washington, D. C.

Providence has yet to gain a victory in the short series which started back in 1923. That opening encounter ended in a 7-7 stalemate and in 1931 when the teams renewed relations, the Cardinals were the victors by a 13-7 score. The Dominicans again emerged second best the following year, trailing C. U. by a 6-0 margin.

The Cardinals will field a forward wall that is a deft combination of speed and power. Heading the end brigade is Joe "Highpockets" Carrig, six feet, 170-pound senior from Jersey City who has made the all-Washington team the past two years as well as gaining honorable mention on the all-Eastern eleven. Marty Donovan, 185-pounder from Salem, Mass., will hold forth at the other flank.

Most of the weight, however, will be concentrated at the tackles where Jim Conlen and Casimir Ksycewski, tipping the scales at 209 and 210 respectively, will be stationed. Like Cherello and Johnnie Schroeder, a couple of huskies, are Coach Dutch Bergman's choices for the guard posts while Morris Schulman will handle the pivot position.

Leading the Cardinals' array of backfield talent is Hank Brostek, the "Blond Bomber" from Solvay, N. Y. who can run, kick, and pass with equal facility and plays his best under pressure. Hank operates at right half and his running mate, Charlie Moutenot is fleet of foot and will demand no little amount of attention before the afternoon is over. Pete Sachon, a speedster from Coaldale, Penn., will call the signals while Al Norris will place his 185 pounds in the fullback spot.

Coach Bergman's charges have compiled a 500 average in the games played to date, having won three, lost three, and tied one. They put up a stubborn fight against the strong Detroit University eleven before dropping a 14-0 decision and defeated St. Anselm's 6-0.

Coach Hughie Devore reports that every player on the squad but Joe Juges and Ray Roy, who have not fully recovered from injuries, will make the trip. Juges's fractured foot failed to come around as expected and the rib injury that Roy sus-

NEWPORT CLUB

The Newport Club's annual Fall dance will be held at the "Castle" in Newport on Friday, November 22, from 9 o'clock to 1, it was announced yesterday after a meeting of the club.

Herb Siegal, a club member, will supply the music.

Solemn High Mass To Be Celebrated

A solemn high mass of requiem in memory of the benefactors of the college will be celebrated Wednesday morning in Harkin Hall by the Very Rev. John J. Dillon, O.P., president of the college. The Rev. Francis J. Fanning, O.P., will be deacon and the Rev. John F. Ryan, O.P., will be subdeacon. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Daniel M. Galliher, O.P., registrar.

This will be the third anniversary mass in honor of the benefactors and will be general communion day for the entire student body of the college.

The College choral group will sing the mass.

VERITAS

All members of the Freshman Class are to report outside the the rotunda of Harkins Hall immediately following the Mass Wednesday morning, November 27.

Individual pictures will be taken by Veritas staff photographers.

Eight Seniors to End Grid Career In Game Against C. U.

Co-Captains Avedisian and Potera Head List of Last-Year Men

By HAROLD RICH

When the final whistle brings a halt to the Providence College-Catholic U. clash at Washington, tomorrow, Friar grid activities for the year 1940 will have come to an end, but for eight senior participants the whistle will be more significant for it will mark the conclusion of their collegiate campaigning, the end of their roles as representatives of the Black and White on the football field.

This group of seniors—Co-Capts. Charlie Avedisian and Cas Potera, and Ted Alexakos, Don Cronin, Jim Pettine, Joe Pariseau, George Sarris, and John Werbecki—is unique in that it is the first that has completed three years of varsity competition under the guidance of Coach Hugh Devore and his aides, Ed Crotty and Joe Dulkie. Three years ago, when Devore came to Providence to direct the Black and White's grid destinies, these eight men were among the group which answered the former Notre Dame captain's first call for varsity candidates. They were part of the first Providence College team to operate according to the rules of the famous Notre Dame system of play.

Never before in its history has Providence College been able to boast a more capable tackle than Avedisian, a tackle who could fit nicely into any college line in the nation. Avedisian who came here via Pawtucket High, is the iron man type of performer and a "Handy Andy" if ever there was one. Aside from turning in an excellent performance at tackle, Pawtucket Charlie can be counted upon to give a good account of himself at fullback in the fullback spot.

Sophs Make Hop Colorful Affair

More than 225 couples attended the Annual Sophomore Hop held in Harkins Hall last Friday evening, it was announced yesterday by John Donnelly, chairman of the committee.

Music for the dancing was furnished from 8:30 to midnight by Tiny Quinn and his orchestra. Dominated by a centerpiece consisting of a mast and yard-arm in "full dress," the hall was decorated in a marine mode. Favors were distributed to the ladies attending.

Assisting Donnelly on the committee were: Charles Cottam, Robert Reilly, favors; Donald Carley, Leo Leary, orchestra; Bernard McLaughlin, Howard Kenny, tickets; Joseph Powers, Hilary Connors, Thomas Daly, Richard Ramsdell, Daniel Dennis and Gabriel Cusano, decorations.

or at guard. In his freshman year Avedisian, who last season won a tackle berth on the Associated Press All New England team and honorable mention on the Little All-America combine, performed at fullback. He played at tackle and fullback the following campaign, tackle in his junior year, and tackle, fullback, and guard during the present campaign.

Cas Potera, a hard-crashing type of performer, gained a starting end berth when he was a sophomore and has

Seminars Planned By College Forum

"Moral Decorum in Courtship" was the topic discussed last night by The Forum, a newly constituted seminar for the discussion of religious questions and the clarification of Catholic doctrine.

The seminar held last night was well attended by the student body. According to present plans, a group discussion will be held every other Wednesday night at 7:15 p. m.

All students are invited to attend the informal discussions and submit suggestions for future topics. Some of the questions which will be discussed in coming meetings pertain to confession, the priesthood, birth control, and the mass.

Resident Students Forget Politics With Extra Turkey

The men on the "Rock" ate a hearty meal last night. To console the inhabitants of the Dorm for the absence of certain of their fellow-inmates, a real New England turkey feast was served. Thirty usually occupied seats were vacant in the dining hall. These vacancies represented those students whose home states had declared Nov. 21 to be Thanksgiving Day. They were given leave to return to the bosom of their families for their turkey dinners.

Early this week it was common knowledge that a turkey feast was scheduled for Thursday. Scientific dieting was begun by some of the Dorm epicureans in preparation for the day. Last night all was ready. Straining at the leash, the gastronomical shock troops of Aquinas Hall poured into the dining room. Principles were abandoned as, reluctant to the last, a few die-hard Republicans, overcome by the lovely fragrance which emanates from a turkey dinner with all the fixin's, slunk down the aisles to their seats. But with the first savoring of the contents of their plates, all was forgiven and a spirit of good-fellowship reigned supreme o'er the tables.

Dramatic Society to Give World's Premiere of Play

ALEMBOIC

The deadline for all material for the second issue of the Alembic is November 25, Matthew P. Gallagher, editor, announced yesterday. The staff urges all students to submit their literary endeavors to the literary clinic for constructive criticism. Poems are especially welcome, Gallagher said. All material will receive equal consideration.

DEBATING UNION

The Debating Union of Providence College will debate the question: "Resolved: That the nations of the Western Hemisphere enter a permanent union," at a meeting Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

Those who will uphold the affirmative are Conrad Fournier, '44; William Doyle, '44, and John Devitt, '44.

The negative of the question will be upheld by Harold D. Deniss, '43; Harry F. McKanna, '43; and Joseph Ney, Jr., '41.

Alumni to Honor J. Howard McGrath

Very Rev. John J. Dillon, O.P., and Rev. Daniel M. Galliher, O.P., to Speak

The Very Rev. John J. Dillon, O.P.,

President, and the Rev. Daniel M. Galliher, O.P., registrar of Providence College, will address members of the Alumni Association at the testimonial dinner in honor of Governor-Elect J. Howard McGrath, Sunday, December 1, at 6:30 p. m. in Aquinas Hall.

McGrath was graduated from Providence College with the Class of 1926, and the dinner will be a tribute from the Alumni Association to the first member of that body to be elected to the premier office in the State.

A committee for the affair was named by Joseph H. Lyons, '31.

According to Alumni President John E. Farrell, the attendance will be strictly limited to members of the Association.

'Brother Petroc's Return' Is An Adaptation By Emmet Lavery

The world's premiere of "Brother Petroc's Return," a three-act play by Emmet Lavery, will be presented by the Pyramid Players, college dramatic organization, in Harkins Hall December 7 and 8. This is the first time that this play has been presented anywhere.

The play was adapted from the novel "Brother Petroc's Return," which was written by S.M.C., an English nun who prefers to remain anonymous. The novel published without benefit of special exploitation gained amazing popularity in England and was brought to America where it attracted a large following. It was not until after he had adapted the story that Lavery met S.M.C., but he has kept her identity a secret.

Other plays which were written by Lavery include "The First Legion," "Monsignor's Hour" and "Second Spring."

"Brother Petroc's Return" is the story of a monk who after being supposedly dead four hundred years returns to life. His complicated and amazing experiences in this new world are related in the play.

Directed by Thomas J. Farrell, '41, production manager, the cast includes: the Misses Claire Fitzpatrick, Helen Robillard and Mary Fox, Charles McGovern, Thomas McBride, John Antya, Thomas Farrell, John Gibbons, Charles Cavas, Ira T. Williams, Jr., '41; Joseph McLaughlin, Francis Maguire, Raymond Curry, '42; Francis Stadnicki, Fred Fay, James Griffin, '43; Paul Menard, Richard Danilowicz, Charles McKiernan and Albert Couture, '44.

Kenneth McGovern, '41, is in charge of stage production and is assisted by Michael O. Jenkins, '41, Maurice Ferland, '41, Louis Cosantino, '43, Joseph O'Shea, '43, Edward Donilon, '43, and Paul Cavanaugh, '44.

Assisting Gerald O'Brien, '41, as business manager, are: Edward Healy, '43, and Thomas Gilfillan, '42.

AQUINO CLUB

At a meeting of the Aquino Club held yesterday, the secretary, Dominic Coppolino, '43, read an invitation to a social to be held by the Manzoni Club of R. I. C. E. November 26.

Philosophy Club To Hold Circle

The Philosophy Club will conduct a Scholastic Circle on the evening of December 10, it was decided at a meeting of the club held yesterday.

"The Intuitive Faculty of a Woman Is Superior To the Logical Faculty of a Man," with Edward Kaylor, '41, Fall River as defender and Martin Orzeck, '41, Providence, as objector. Papers will be read by Robert L. '41. Members of the Extension School Smith, '41; and Joseph Teverowsky, have been invited to attend the affair.

Leo J. McNerney, '41; and Francis J. Maguire, '42; will participate in a discussion on "Essence and Existence" to be held at the next regular meeting of the Club on Thursday morning, Dec. 5.

Plans were also discussed for the procurement of Philosophy Club pins for the active members of the organization, this plan being retro-active so as to include past members and also founders of the organization. Francis J. Maguire, '42, Edward J. Carr, '44, and Raymond J. Flynn, '43, are on the emblem committee.

Student Lawyers Serve Internship

Detroit, Mich. (ACP)—To acquaint seniors with the practical side of the law by an internship period similar to that served by doctors, the Wayne University law school has launched a program of apprenticeship training with co-operation of Wayne County attorneys.

Personal interviews with clients, experience in looking up law and preparing briefs, and training in terms and procedures peculiar to practice in Michigan are provided.

Formal classes for seniors are before noon, making the afternoons free for internship. Amount of class work required remains the same.

'Don'ts' for Faculty

Pittsburgh, Pa. (ACP)—The Very Rev. Raymond V. Kirk has prescribed a list of "don'ts" for his Duquesne university faculty with the declaration "we are going to kick the devil out of communism."

The university's list of "discrediting acts," any one of which is to be considered sufficient ground for termination of a contract, includes:

Fostering of materialistic communism or any other political theory that would destroy the American form of government.

Failing to realize that inculcation of patriotism is the duty of all faculty members.

Casting aspersions on an adherent of any form of religious belief.

Questioning the existence of a personal God.

Teaching any other proposition inconsistent with Catholic doctrine.

College Library

Middletown, Conn. (ACP)—The college library must double in size about every 15 years if it is to maintain its place in the educational parade.

Research pointing to this conclusion has just been completed by Fremont Rider, Wesleyan university librarian.

Citing studies going as far back as 1831, Mr. Rider declares:

"Whenever the growth of any library has slackened, you always find that its college has been slipping. On the other hand, if any library has spurred ahead of the 15-year average during any given decade, you always find on investigation that during that decade its college, for some reason, has been taking a new lease on life."

From the Dorm

By ROSS MUENZEN '42

After the symphonic, literary rendition given by the guest columnist of last week who showed himself the superb master of the verbal keyboard this column will never seem the same. The dilettanteism of the present will need a lot of seasoning before reaching the sublimity of last week's homo multarum literarum. To him we express our sincere thanks for his graciousness.

Hot Sketch Book

In keeping with the ideas promulgated last week we hereby open the second page of the Hot Sketch Book and cast a satirical eye on the contents. . . . Custom was given the "hot foot" the other night. It's no news when "Boy Chases Girl" but it is news when Rudy Zebora is chased by a vehicle of pulchritude from down town to the safe portals of Aquinas. . . . "Father Flannigan," controller of destiny on the Rock, is decorating his room with appropriated radio sets. Can it be that "Swing" is not here to stay? . . . Bob Reilly has made his debut by way of the nautical gang plank under the auspices of —. . . Bill Smith says that the only night the proctors don't have to worry about checking their charges in is on dance nights—nobody goes out! . . . James Clifford has found that the Pittsfield hills contain mountains of loveliness. . . . Last week there seemed to be quite an alteration going on at the back of the soda fountain. Could be Mr. X lost a couple of cup cakes! . . . Henry Cimini, with hair dripping in his eyes gives forth on the piano with all the gestures of a true artist but don't try to swing and sway the Cimini way! . . . Speaking of music, the fans who saw the P.C.-St. Anselm game were also treated to the spectacle of Amby Reynolds "beating it out" on the band's large bass drum, which reminded some of the World's Fair Trylon and Perisphere. . . .

Rock and Rye

The first one on the house goes to the Sophomore Dance Committee for their originality and versatility in all things connected with their latest dance. Nice going, fellows! While we're on the subject of dances there is a dance coming up that should meet with the support of all classes—the Varsity Dance. Let's be there!

The next set up of Rock and Rye goes to Yehudi. In case you don't know who Yehudi is, well, he's the one who turns off your radio when you go under an underpass or perhaps, you might locate him at Bradley's.

Raise Requirements

New York. — (ACP) — Columbia university's school of business will raise entrance requirements for its three-year curriculum in accountancy to place the subject on an academic level equal to that of law and other professions, it has been announced by Dean Roswell C. McCrea.

Students who wish to matriculate in accountancy for the degree of master of science must have completed satisfactorily at least three years of study at an accredited liberal arts college. Two years of collegiate preparation has been the requirement hitherto.

Dartmouth

Hanover, N. H.—(ACP)—Dartmouth is stepping down out of the "rich man's college" classification.

Clarence E. Lovejoy, author of "So You're Going to College," who said in his book that it costs $1650 yearly to attend Dartmouth, has informed administration officials that his latest edition will readjust Dartmouth's "typical" annual expenses at $1350.

By virtue of the change, which had been requested by the administration, Dartmouth no longer will be labelled "the country's most expensive men's college."

COLLEGE CAPERS

.. Alumni News ..

The first planned Homecoming Day for the Alumni proved a successful event, and only the defeat of the Varsity football forces in the game with St. Anselm's marred an otherwise perfect Day. Most of the graduates expressed much pleasure in the plan for an organized effort to stake such events, and alumni from far beyond the confines of this State were noted in the crowd which witnessed the game at the La Salle field.

Following the game many of the old grads took time to visit the new residence hall at the College, and also to walk again through the corridors of Harkins Hall, noting with much surprise and interest the many changes that have been effected in recent years. All-in-all, the day achieved its purpose in bringing many of the men back to Alma Mater, and in creating anew a fraternity of Providence men which should grow stronger each year.

Late in the afternoon, following the football game, a record committee turnout was reported for the discussion of the plans for the testimonial dinner to J. Howard McGrath, '26, Governor-elect of Rhode Island, to be held on Sunday, December 1, at Aquinas Hall. Under the direction of Joseph H. Lyons, '31, general chairman of the committee, many of the details incident to planning for such a memorable event were worked out, and the enthusiastic response of the alumni to the suggestion for the tribute assures success in the undertaking.

Alumni Bulletin Wins Praise

From all alumni encountered since the publication of the first of what is hoped to be a regular alumni news bulletin to be published at regular intervals during the academic year has come high praise for the new feature. For the first time all the major activities of the year have been announced far in advance, and in printed form, so that all the graduates—some 2500 in all—may have a permanent reference guide to inform them of the events. The Board of Governors is to be congratulated for this progressive work to improve alumni relations with the College.

Among the "Homecomers"

It was gratifying to see such a large turnout of our alumni from this area, but even more pleasing to note that many men made the trip to Providence last Sunday from distant places to take part in the first Alumni affair of the year. From a vantage point off the 15-yard line—on the Providence side, of course—your editor spotted many of the one time

"boarders" of the Smith Hill district. From Pittsfield, Mass., Jack Maguire, '36, member of the Territorial Council of the Board of Governors, and President of the Pittsfield Providence Club, headed a delegation which included John Reid, '36, one time varsity baseball catcher, and Irv Rossi, '36.

From the Springfield area we noted big Bill Lawler, '37; Lou Ragno, '37, and Carl Angelica, '37. Lawler is now a salesman, while Ragno has become a successful book store operator in Thompsonville, and Angelica is engaged in the work of teaching history at Enfield high school. Bill Moge, '38, now assistant coach at American International College in Springfield, was in New York on a football trip, but his regards to all were conveyed by Lawler. From New Haven came Ed Bobinski, '38, to report that he is now working at the Sikorsky aircraft plant in Bridgeport, while Leo Davin, '37, another outstanding athlete during his college days, is on the other end of the armament business, working at submarine building at the Electric Boat Works in New London. . . . Jim Bouzan, '37, varsity tackle for three years, made the trip in from Newton, Mass., and Jim Boboras, '37, an outstanding guard, was on hand to observe the current edition of the Friar eleven. Boboras is now at Boston University Law School. . . . Pat Morrison, '36, was reported to be on hand, all the way from Staten Island. . . .

We wondered whether football or baseball was the subject of discussion when we noted Ed Doherty, '24, former alumni President and now a member of the Athletic Advisory Committee, talking with Art Shevlin, '32. Ed is now public relations man for the Boston Red Sox, while Art is a busy football official and an enthusiastic fan, when not busy selling machine tools for the Taft-Pierce Company in Woonsocket. . . . And speaking of the Red Sox reminds us that Joe Kwasniewski, '40, who was signed by the Yawkey outfit when he finished college only to have a lame arm spoil his first season out in the Middle Atlantic League, was on hand from New Milford, Conn. Joe reported his draft number will probably keep him out of army service for another year, and therefore he looks forward to a journey south with the Sox in February. . . .

Russia Faces New Problems

College Editors Concerned With Soviet Movements In Europe's Free-for-All

"Russia," comments the Daily Kansan at the University of Kansas, "appears to be simulating a half-asleep bear, able to stick out a heavy paw when the time arrives."

When the Soviet Premier-Foreign Commissar Molotov recently made the first trip of his life outside Russia to confer with Adolf Hitler at Berlin, new attention was focused on the peculiar status of the Soviet Union in the European cauldron. Recent Axis activity in the Balkans has brought forth lengthy speculation in the nation's collegiate press.

"There could be no question," says the University of Minnesota Daily, "but that the newest Axis moves were a direct threat to its military position, yet Russia gave no indication that it would proceed any further than its mild rebuke to Germany for failure to give adequate notice of the occupation (of Rumania). It is extremely unlikely that the Soviet Union will risk a war with Germany at the present time; it is not politic to do so. The stalemate with Britain still leaves Germany the opportunity to create an eastern front, and the Red army is not yet sufficiently developed and reorganized to easily defeat the reichswehr."

The Cornell Daily Sun feels that "in the Balkan powderkeg the two most powerful forces on the continent have not reached positions where their interests are irreparably in constant conflict. A situation is developing wherein one of the conquerors will either have to retreat or fight. To those of us who have so long been in the dark concerning the nature of the alliance between Hitler and Stalin, this last conflict merely serves to increase the general confusion. But who among us would not be willing to stay in the dark in this respect as long as the conflict which is brewing promises, however slightly, to give light to the world which is sinking ever deeper into darkness?"

Russia, sandwiched between the two most active Axis members, "is in a crucial position both as an ally or as an enemy," declares the University of Michigan Daily. "Already the Soviet has made several agreements with Germany and has shared in the partition of Poland. But the tension created between the two nations by the occupation of Rumania has not been lessened by a reiteration of Russo-German co-operation. The Soviet has always shared a mutual hostility with Italy and has repeatedly opposed Italian expansion in the Balkans. Russia's relations with Japan have been historically belligerent. That the Soviet cannot be ignored in the reconstruction of Europe and Asia is undeniable. Either Russia must cooperate or her vast quantities of food, raw materials and land must be divided among the potential rulers of the continent."

"Thus," concludes the Daily, "another paradox is formed in Europe's chaotic political free-for-all. The biggest bully of all is neither admitted officially into the gang nor openly marked for liquidation. Unless a secret agreement is made between the four spoilsman of the Eastern Hemisphere, one of the alternatives will break into action soon."

Press Box Splinters

By F. X. McCARTHY

An Open Letter to the Fighting Friars
Dear Fellows:

I'm not telling you anything new when I mention that you have been the subject of much discussion for the past two weeks in the wake of successive setbacks at the hands of La Salle and St. Anselm's. A team when losing usually expects that sort of thing but always gets it whether it looks for it or not. However, the latest meetings of the Taurus club have not been tea parties but rather have closely approximated some of the more enthusiastic Communist gatherings.

The Monday-morning quarterbacks have asserted themselves most vehemently and have even vowed to forego many valuable sleeping hours in the interest of the cause. The cause being a complete shake-up of the present order of things which, among other things, include the coach, quarterback(s), captain, not to mention No. —, No. —, and No. — who were missing blocks, tackles, and passes all afternoon. (While I'm on the subject I suggest to Trainer Johnnie Cera that he start looking for a new job as his status hasn't been clearly ascertained as yet. The same applying to Friar Boy III. Ed Note.)

I could easily have dispensed with the above paragraph and it wasn't that I wanted to get you worried or upset on the eve of your all-important climax game with Catholic University. But at the same time I did want you to know what I've been hearing and probably what you have at least suspected of late. Nevertheless, take my advice and don't let it worry you one bit. Who's going to believe any of their theories? Anyone who's seen the four home games this season should be convinced that the P.C. squad is just about the finest-coached team that you'll find in this neck of the woods. And the kicks and bewailments were few when the team was victorious over Canisius, Springfield and State, only proving the adage, "Nothing succeeds like success."

One thing most of us agree on, however, is that it was pretty hard to admit that the better team won after the last two games. Somehow or other these words stuck in our throats so paradoxical did they seem after the superior play of the Friars throughout most of both contests. But after all, that's football, and if the enemy fashioned the breaks which spelled victory, more power to them. All the post-mortems in the world can't change the score on the board. So by way of closing, suppose we chalk it up to experience and swallow the pill as is, bitter though it may be. Forget the past with all its bugbears and be resolved to shoot the works tomorrow afternoon in the capital city so that by returning to these plantations sporting a victory over Catholic U, you may delight in demonstrating to the agitators that "it can't happen here."

Hearin' Around

Assistant Coach Ed Crotty became the proud father of an eight-pound boy this week. . . . It must have seemed like old times to former Head Coach Joe McGee last Sunday when his Steam Roller team faced the Worcester Pro eleven for it gave him a chance to see some of his old rivals in action. Ronnie Cahill & Co. was pretty well harnessed but nevertheless the Rollers dropped a 7-6 verdict. Just a continuation of the old Worcester jinx. . . . The Philomusian A's have added a few more trick plays to their repertoire in anticipation of a tight struggle from Jim McGrath's Mount Pleasant All Stars. . . . It's pretty well established that the Friars will open up next season with Franklin-Marshall at Lancaster, Penn.

Said an excited citizen to a candidate: "I wouldn't vote for you if you were the Angel Gabriel."

To which the politician replied: "If I were the Angel Gabriel, you wouldn't even be in my precinct."

End College Grid Careers at Washington

held first team ranking ever since. A La Salle Academy graduate, Potera, who hails from Warren, R. I., has been a steady performer and a fine team player.

Ted Alexakos, a 200-pound stalwart, has served at guard and tackle with great success. Attesting to Ted's ability is the fact that during the Spring drills of 1938 he was awarded the Friars' Club medal for proficiency in blocking. Midway through last year's campaign, Alexakos was taken ill and was inactive through the latter part of the 1939 season.

Don Cronin of Baltimore was a center in his yearling squad, but served at end the following two years. However, he was shifted back to his

Hawks Win In Close Contest

The defensive safety which has been used successfully by many teams in the nation, backfired as a measure of strategy as Providence College last Sunday dropped an 8 to 7 verdict to St. Anselm, before a Homecoming Day crowd of 5000 at La Salle Academy Field.

Having a marked advantage over their foes in ground and aerial statistics and leading 7-0, the Friars took an intentional safety with four minutes remaining in the contest. A short while after the Hawks had been given their two-point gift, they added a touchdown to their total when Captain Ed Boule rifled a pass to Bob Gorman, who caught the ball in the end zone. The attempt at conversion was blocked.

Providence's score came in early in the final period, as Co-Capt. Charlie Avedisian intercepted an aerial and raced 28 yards to paydirt. Jim Rafferty aided substantially on the play, cutting down the only Hawk who could have stopped Avedisian's progress, with a beautiful block. Joe Pariseau's placement was good for the extra point.

The only department of play in which the invaders had an advantage over the Friars was in kicking, a phase of play that was well taken care of by the Hawks' Ed Costello.

original position, at the start of the present campaign, understudying Sarris. In the contest with Rhode Island State College he broke into the scoring column when he raced 80 yards for a touchdown after intercepting an aerial.

Jim Pettine has directed the Friars during the past two years as first string quarterback. A good blocker and possessing speed, Pettine has been a valuable asset to the Black and White.

Joe Pariseau came to Providence College as a sophomore, having spent a year at Amherst where he performed on the yearling team. Ineligible the following season because of his transfer, Pariseau was a substitute guard as a junior, but in this campaign his sterling work earned for him a starting position and he has filled his role in outstanding fashion. Joe's trusty toe has accounted for most of the Friars' extra points during the past two years.

Dunlap On War

Los Angeles, Calif.—(ACP)—War is no longer considered unavoidable and instinctive by enlightened psychologists, according to Dr. Knight Dunlap, professor of psychology at the University of California.

"The instinct doctrine still persists in psychological backwashes," he says, "but the main current of psychology is relatively cleared of its mark."

Dr. Dunlap points out that our shaggy ancestors once had a non-bathing habit, commenting "it would have been no more foolish to say, a thousand years ago, that since men had been generally dirty, there was no hope of their becoming cleanly in their habits, than it was to say a few years ago that since men did make war, nothing could change them into peaceful people."

It is Dr. Dunlap's belief that wars will be reduced by advanced methods of social psychology.

his collegiate grid career as a tackle, but was shifted to center. After spending two years as understudy to the renowned 'Slip' Barnini, Sarris this season moved up to the first team. George has been a bulwark on defense. Against State he registered a touchdown on a 92-yard jaunt following a pass interception.

John Werbecki, who gained All Rhode Island recognition while at La Salle Academy, has been a fine performer. Werbecki has done a good job on defense and offense. At one time during his collegiate career, he served as a fullback because of his ability as a hard-crashing runner.

Freshmen End First Season

The Friar freshmen were held to a scoreless tie in their concluding game of the season by the 243rd Coast Artillery team at Murphy Field Newport last Wednesday afternoon.

Handicapped by the two week's layoff, the Friarlets lacked the precision that had characterized their previous encounters and were unable to stage a sustained march until the final quarter. That particular drive carried them to the Soldiers' five-yard line but a pass interception ruined their chance to score.

The Artillerymen drove from their own 25 to the Providence 20 in the first period but the Young Friars stiffened and took over when their goal line was threatened.

Quotable Quotes

"We don't want pity, but we do hope that the older men of this nation will use their wealth of experience and wisdom to show us how to fight if necessary. However, these men must be sound in their thinking, far-visioned in their planning and bold in their policies. We don't want the type of leadership that succumbed to Hitler in the past 18 months. We want clean-cut, honest, sincere and decisive action. We reject the glorification of war itself. Perhaps here lies the greatest difference between us and our German contemporaries, whose ideals are blood and iron. We will not fight just for the sake of fighting, but convince us that war is the best means of serving our American ideals and we will follow you anywhere. We must have a guarantee that peace will be rational and permanent." Charles Gondak, president of the student body and captain of the football team at the College of William and Mary, gives his version of youth's challenge to today's leaders.

"War or peace does not change, by one jot or one tittle, the boundaries of academic freedom. War lays upon the university no obligation to surrender its essential functions of truth in teaching and the enlargement of the borders of truth. Only as those who teach feel confident that they can express the truth as their minds see it, only as they have firm assurance that in their search for new truths they will be unhampered, can either the perpetuation or the expansion of knowledge really be effective." President Henry M. Wriston of Brown University pledges maintenance of freedom of thought and of teaching regardless of world conditions.

COLLEGIATE WORLD

It's not particularly unusual for a boy to be happy because of a girl. But it was at the University of North Carolina one day recently.

Walking into class several minutes late with a smile on his face and a cigar in his hand, one of Dr. E. E. Ericson's students startled the professor into stopping his lecture.

"HAVE A CIGAR," he said. Dr. Ericson and the class raised eyebrows and stared.

"I'VE JUST BECOME THE FATHER OF A BABY GIRL, 7 POUNDS, 2 OUNCES," The late-comer explained. "YOU'RE NOT GOING TO GIVE A QUIZ, ARE YOU?"

And he took his seat.
